

Attention Carrier:

Effective September 25, 2003 49 Federal Code of Regulations # 172.701-704, 800-804 mandates that all carriers transportation hazardous materials in placardable quantities have written security plan in place and provide in-depth security training. As an offeror of hazardous cargo, Multi Logistics Solutions, Inc. is also subject to security plan compliance. As such, it is essential that we confirm adherence to these regulations by all carriers handling hazardous materials for our clients.

Our records show that your company is, or previously was, authorized to handle hazardous materials.
Please confirm, by your signature below that your company:

1. Has a written security plan in place;
2. Your security plan includes assessment of potential risks to applicable cargo;
3. Your security plan includes appropriate measures to address these security risks;
4. Your security plan includes provisions for personal security (including HazMat employee background checks);
5. Your security plan includes protocols addressing unauthorized access to applicable buildings and vehicles;
6. Your security plan includes measures for en-route security from origin through layover to destination;
7. Provides in-depth security training for all haz-mat employees.

I represent and confirm that my company is in compliance with the security plan and training requirements of the federal regulations (and any amendments or revisions of them) which are identified above.
